

20 November 2020

Dear Parents and Carers,

Newmarket Academy and Sybil Andrews Academy have been working to develop a new and innovative curriculum for both schools. Staff from both schools met in March of this year to work together to develop new schemes of learning for both schools. This day, and the work that took place after it, has been incredibly important to both schools. To further this work we are planning a second additional PD day on Tuesday 5th January 2021.

This means there will be no school for all students, apart from Year 11 who will have a curriculum day in school preparing for their GCSEs in the summer.

We believe that both schools are close to having a curriculum plan that will be at the forefront of educational thinking in this country, and that this additional PD day will help drive this forward. All our students will be the beneficiaries of this work.

With best wishes

Nick Froy
